Ohio Valley Goodwill Industries Celebrating a Century of Service in 2016

Ohio Valley Goodwill is celebrating its 100th Anniversary and its mission of putting people to work during 2016! The organization is excited to share its story of employment successes for the tens of thousands of men and women with disabilities and our nation's veterans that the organization has served over the past century. Since 1916, Ohio Valley Goodwill Industries has served individuals with disabilities throughout the Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky region. Founded by Methodist minister Reverend Richard Scully, Ohio Valley Goodwill Industries initially served a variety of populations including those in poverty, individuals seeking vocational training, people with disabilities and families in need. The organization's facilities originally occupied three locations in downtown Cincinnati. In the mid-1950's, with the help of organizational leaders and civic volunteers, Ohio Valley Goodwill moved to a centralized location in Woodlawn, Ohio. This facility opened for service in July, 1957, and is still used today. Ohio Valley Goodwill's entire Woodlawn corporate center was renovated in 2004 to meet the expanding service needs of the Greater Cincinnati community.

In the past ten years, Ohio Valley Goodwill has expanded its presence to offer four satellite vocational training centers throughout the four county region it serves (Hamilton, Butler, Clermont and Warren); opened six new retail stores and eleven Attended Donation Centers, and is positioning itself to do even more in the coming year. In addition, Goodwill has been recognized for its contributions to environmental stewardship and for recycling more than 45 million pounds of donated materials each year, diverting them from area landfills.

As we celebrate our 100 years of success and move into a new century of service, Goodwill's prominence in the community and reputation as an outstanding provider of vocational services will continue to grow. Today, the diverse needs which drive community members to seek our assistance are constantly changing, and Ohio Valley Goodwill will continue to change in response. Even as we move forward to meet the needs of those we serve, Goodwill's mission remains the same: to provide quality skills training and employment services for people with disabilities and our nation's veterans. Goodwill's commitment to putting people to work is just as strong and relevant in today's challenging world as it was back in the beginning. With your support, we look forward to a new century of service to the Greater Cincinnati community.

Ohio Valley Goodwill Industries is always in need of clean, usable donations of textiles, shoes, household goods, children's items, seasonal goods and small electrics. These donations help Goodwill with its mission to provide programs and services for men and women with disabilities, homeless veterans and others with barriers to employment. All donations must be in salable condition.

For the third year in a row, Ohio Valley Goodwill will be hosting an Earth Day Electronic Recycling Celebration on Sunday, April 24th from 11:00 am until 5:00 pm. The donation event will be held at all Goodwill locations in the Tri-State. Donations of computers, laptops, keyboards, monitors and other electronic equipment will be gratefully accepted at all 31 Goodwill Donation locations!

Working in partnership with Cohen Electronics Recycling; an E-steward and R2 certified recycling vendor; Goodwill is hoping to collect over 80,000 lbs. of donations in this year's drive. During the 2015 Earth Day Donation event, Goodwill collected more than 60,000 lbs. at just its headquarters location in the village of Woodlawn.

"It's important for our generous donors to know that Ohio Valley Goodwill accepts donations of computers and other electronic equipment every day at all 31 of our Donation Centers," said Jeff Eastham, Director of Operations. "The Earth Day event is held just to raise awareness about Goodwill's commitment to recycling of all types but, specifically in this case, computers and related electronic equipment."

Last year, Ohio Valley Goodwill recycled more than 43,000,000 lbs. of donated materials, diverting them from area landfills. The organization received the 2014 Hamilton County Recycling award for "Excellence in Re-Use" as well. "We want our donors to know that when you choose to donate to Goodwill, you are choosing to recycle responsibly," explained Eastham.

Visit www.cincinnati-goodwill.org/donate for a complete list of Greater Cincinnati donation locations. Please mark your calendars for Sunday, April 24th from 11:00 am to 5:00 pm and start gathering your electronic donations today!

The SWORA awards program is held each year to recognize outstanding contributions to the field of vocational rehabilitation.

Aimee Rittner, Assistant Director of Community-Based Services, nominated Matt for the Rehabilitation Practitioner award due to his dedication to helping the individuals that he and the Employment Services team serve to reach their employment goals. "We are so very pleased that the SWORA organization has chosen to recognize Matt for his hard work and dedication to the field of rehabilitation and his commitment to the people that our Employment Services department serves," said Steve Koons, Goodwill's Director of Rehabilitation Services.

Ohio Valley Goodwill Industries Board member, Joe Walter, was recently recognized with the 2016 Pillar Award for Community Service at an awards event on January 14, 2016. Joe has served on Goodwill's board for 15 years and was nominated for the special award by Goodwill President and CEO, Joe Byrum.

The Medical Mutual Pillar Award for Community Service, presented by Smart Business, honors businesses of all types and sizes that make outstanding contributions to their community. The purpose of the award is to encourage a charitable environment, recognize creative efforts that make a difference, and demonstrate the ties between the for-profit and nonprofit worlds.

As a former Cincinnati Bengal, Joe serves as the organizational spokesperson in support of Goodwill's weekly Auto Auction program on its television commercials as well as the chair of the annual celebrity golf outing which has raised almost $400,000 in support of the organization's mission of putting people with disabilities and our nation's veterans to work.

"While we appreciate all of Joe's contributions to Ohio Valley Goodwill and our mission of service in the Greater Cincinnati community, it is especially important to us that he receive this honor during the kick-off of our 100th anniversary celebration," said Joe Byrum, President and CEO. "We honor Joe for his dedication to the Goodwill mission and for his personal commitment to the individuals with disabilities that the organization serves," added Byrum.

During his remarks, Joe Walter commented that he was grateful to Goodwill for the opportunity to be the celebrity spokesman for an organization that he believes in so much. "It may sound strange that just by getting rid of your old car, you can actually help someone get a job in our community, but at Goodwill, that is the real story. I am proud to be a member of the organization's board of directors and excited about the celebration of 100 years of helping people go to work," said Joe Walter.

Each year, Goodwill provides more than 3,400 people with training and employment services and last year, helped almost 1,000 people get jobs in the Greater Cincinnati area. During the celebration of our 100th anniversary of service, we salute Joe Walter on being recognized with the 2016 Nonprofit Board Executive of the Year award.
